

CONTENTS

Nijolė Keršytė . Preface. The Tours and Detours of Phenomenology in French, Lithuanian and Latvian Philosophies.	7
I. PHENOMENOLOGY IN FRANCE: PAST AND PRESENT
Jean-Michel Salanskis . After French Thought – towards the Analytical, Phenomenological and Levinasian Style.	12
Paul Audi . To Philosophize „à la French“. Some Remarks about Family Resemblance.	31
Marc Crépon . The Thoughts on Death in the Shade of Wars (Sartre and Levinas as the Interpreters of M. Heidegger).	49
Andrea Potestà . J. Derrida and the Crisis of the Phenomenological Language.	61
II. FRENCH PHENOMENOLOGY FROM LATVIAN PERSPECTIVE
Andrejs Balodis . The World as Image: Some Remarks on Sartre's Critique of Bergson's Conception of Consciousness.	71
Rinalds Zembahs . The Aporetical Dimension of Meaning in Merleau-Ponty's Philosophy	85
Ieva Lapinska . Ethical époque in Levinas	95
III. (POST)PHENOMENOLOGY FROM LITHUANIAN PERSPECTIVE
Mintautas Gutauskas . Normality and the Constitution of Reality in Husserl and Merleau-Ponty.	103
Danutė Bacevičiūtė . The Passing of Time in Merleau-Ponty and Levinas.	125
Nijolė Keršytė . The „Marriage“ of Structuralism and Phenomenology in Greimas' Semiotics.	141
Audronė Žukauskaitė . The Post-Phenomenological Notion of the Body: Deleuze, Guattari and Castellucci.	160
IV. REVIEW
Jonas Skačkauskas . Amalgam of Undivided Phenomenology. (D. Jonkus Experience and Reflection: Horizons of Phenomenological Philosophy).	177
CONTRIBUTORS	185
GUIDELINES FOR CONTRIBUTORS	195